SUBJECT: Approve the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Service Administration (SAMHSA) Southwest Expansion Agreement between the Superior Court of California and the Riverside County Department of Mental Health.

BACKGROUND (Continued):

Under the SAMHSA southwest expansion grant, the Superior Court, in collaboration with the DOMH Substance Abuse Program, the Riverside County Probation Department, the Riverside County District Attorney, the Riverside County Public Defender and WestED will expand services as a sentencing alternative to treat eligible felony, non-violent drug offenders located within the Southwest region of Riverside County. These collaborative efforts will allow Riverside County to successfully meet the core goals of the SAMHSA expansion grant which include: 1) strengthening the Riverside Agency Systems efforts by expanding the treatment services program for the Southwest regions for eligible adults referred by Riverside courts or attorneys; 2) expansion of the community's ability to provide integrated and comprehensive community-based responses to the targeted population; 3) strengthening social support services by addressing the needs and problems facing drug-dependent adults in Riverside communities; and 4) conducting a process and outcome evaluation to inform local and State governances about the efficacy and cost savings associated with the South West Recovery Opportunity Center (ROC)/Drug Court and applicable operations improvement. Therefore, the Riverside County DOMH is requesting that the Board of Supervisors approve the attached Agreement with the Superior Court of California for the utilization of the awarded SAMHSA grant funds.

FINANCIAL IMPACT:

This agreement spans two (2) fiscal years. The funding portion for FY 09/10 is $50,000, and the funding portion for FY 10/11 is $99,305. This agreement is 100% funded by the Southwest SAMHSA expansion grant and no additional County funds are required.

PERFORMANCE PERIOD:

The period of performance for this Agreement is October 1, 2009 through September 30, 2010, and may be renewed annually upon the availability of the SAMHSA grant funds.

JUSTIFICATION FOR DELAY:

After legal changes to the original agreement stipulated by Riverside County Counsel and extensive contract negotiations between the DOMH and the Superior Court, this agreement is now prepared to go to the Riverside County Board of Supervisors for approval.

Clients will demonstrate continued payment of all assessed treatment fees, court fines and fees as well as civil restitution, have attended the required number of process groups and scheduled individual sessions, test negative for 120 consecutive days and work to complete steps 10, 11 and 12 of the 12-Step program. Clients will be encouraged to become "peer support advocates" for newly entering clients. Phase 5 (Aftercare): Clients will attend Aftercare groups as required by the team, have a sobriety sponsor and attend a minimum of 60 self-help group sessions (five times every week) during this phase, and continue to drug test on a random basis at least twice per week. Clients must complete the graduation packet and have it approved by their counselor no later than 4 weeks prior to graduation. Continue to be employed full time or full time school or a combination of work and school approved by the Drug Court Team. Clients will demonstrate continued payment of all assessed treatment fees, court fines and fees as well as civil restitution, have attended the required number of process groups and scheduled individual sessions, test negative for 180 days to qualify for graduation. A graduation check off list will be completed by the assigned treatment counselor and Probation Officer verifying completion of all requirements.

- 2.1.1 Individual/Conjoint Sessions. The individual sessions are generally 50-minute sessions designed to address issues on a confidential basis with the counselor and the client. During these sessions, counselors may further assess client needs in the seven treatment planning areas and develop discharge planning needs. Conjoint sessions, may include significant others or those considered important in the recovery process of the client. The content of the sessions is defined in treatment manuals, but may be modified to deal with relapse, crises, or any circumstance that arises and requires individual or familial attention. Counselors also assess need for assistance and referral in the following areas: educational, vocational, medical, psychiatric, legal, childcare, housing, transportation, and relationships. In addition, counselors meet with clients at the end of each treatment Phase to determine if the client will advance to the next treatment Phase.
- 2.1.2 Early Recovery Groups (Process Groups) These sessions are provided to allow clients to receive essential information on how to identify positive and negative feelings. An additional purpose of the group is to teach clients: 1) how to use cognitive tools to reduce craving; 2) how to schedule their time; 3) employ relapse identification techniques in themselves.
- 2.1.3 Relapse Prevention Groups. Relapse Prevention training starts from the beginning of treatment, this group is the means by which clients establish their sobriety goals. The purpose of the Relapse Prevention group is to provide a setting where information about relapse can be learned and shared. Each group focuses on behavior change, and changing the client's cognitive/affective orientation. The clinician facilitates and keeps the group's topic centered and positive with a strong educational element.
- 2.1.4 Family Education Sessions are presented to clients and their families in a group setting using slide presentations, videotapes, panels, and group discussions. The educational component covers areas such as: (a) the biology of addiction; (b) conditioning and addiction; (c) medical effects of addiction; (d) addiction and the family; (e) the recovery process. Successfully engaging families in this component of treatment significantly improves the retention of the client in treatment and continued long term recovery efforts.
- 2.1.5 Life Skills Group. This process covers a wide variety of topics and could include guest speakers from various agencies, some of which are: Probation, law enforcement, vocational services, self help groups, local colleges, and various community support groups. These guest speakers educate and assist clients with resources in areas such as: job skills, resumes, educational direction, legal questions, and health issues. The purpose of much of this practical information is to facilitate the establishment of a new drug-free, positive, healthy, and productive lifestyle.

- 2.1.6 Social Support/Aftercare Group. The content of this group is determined by the needs of those clients attending. If clients have relapsed, review by the Drug Court Team will be initiated and relapse prevention work may be in order. Unstable clients are given direction to help stabilize them and clients moving successfully through the stages of recovery are aided and encouraged to continue with the lifestyle changes that they are making. The Social Support Group makes available activities that foster social events and friendships along with weekly self-help meetings to encourage recovery and build a support system outside of the drug court program.
- 2.1.7 Re-phasing of a client within the treatment program: Clients who have displayed a need for a re-phasing by testing positive for alcohol or drug use, minor violation of probation or breaking program rules will be considered for re-phasing by the Drug Court Team. Usually the length of the re-phase is dependent upon the violation and the need for behavior change.
- 2.2 Contractor will provide case management functions. Documentation of referrals and follow through will be noted in client's chart. A Counselor/Case Manager will conduct an initial assessment at the beginning of treatment to determine client needs and establish a plan of coordinated care. In weekly meetings with clients throughout the first phase of the treatment episode, clients are evaluated on how well they are progressing according to their treatment plan and progress is reviewed with Counselor/Case manager and the Drug Court Team. Ongoing reviews of client progress are done throughout the entire program and progress reports are prepared for the Drug Court Team. The treatment plans are revised with the participation of the client every 90 days or as needed. Education and employment liaisons will be used to assist clients in need of educational/vocational services. Counselor/Case Manager will assist in securing sober living or other housing, medical or mental health care, childcare or legal assistance. Clients will be assessed for need of community services and Counselor/Case Manager will refer, coordinate, and monitor client access to these services.
- 2.3 Contractor will adjust hours of operation to best suit the needs of the clients, providing times of attendance to groups and individual sessions that enhance their work/school schedules. To accomplish this it will require scheduling group and testing times in the morning, afternoon, and evenings.
- 2.4 Contractor will collect and monitor self-help cards from clients assuring that the meetings they attend are legitimate and cards are not forged. A forged meeting will be brought to the Drug Court Team to determine appropriate sanction. Self-help groups such as AA, NA, and CA meetings are widely available, are free of charge, and provide a place where recovering people can meet others who are addressing many of the same issues in recovery. The evidence-based treatment program protocols include topics designed to familiarize clients with this resource and onsite meetings to make initiation into regular meeting attendance easier. Drug Court clients will be required to regularly attend at least five self-help meetings each week over the course of the program, and to continue regular attendance in the Aftercare Phase. Self-help meeting attendance will be monitored with signature cards by the treatment staff.
- 2.5 Contractor agrees to provide treatment services to clients that are referred by Riverside County Superior Court up to the grant budgeted amount. In order to finish 144 clients by September 30, 2012, all clients would need to be enrolled by October, 2011. Clients are identified primarily by Riverside District Attorney, Public Defender and/or Probation and approved by the drug court team. Clients will be considered completed after a minimum 18 months in the program.

TASK 3 Invoices (Payment)

- 3.1 Contractor will submit invoices on a quarterly basis to the Court's Technical Issues Contact.

Exhibit III

Key Elements of Treatment Drug Court Model in Program Design

The Matrix Drug Court Program will implement each of Drug Courts 10 Key Components:

Key Component #1 (Integration of treatment services and case processing.): Treatment providers will be part of the Drug Court Team (DCT) integrating a multi-phase treatment process into the justice system case processing through ongoing interaction and communication with the Court including weekly Drug Court Status Hearings. The DCT will maintain ongoing communication through the exchange of written progress reports on participant performance. The judge will facilitate discussion regarding sanctions and incentives based on progress reports.

Key Component #2 (Non-adversarial promotion of public safety; protecting due process.): Using a non-adversarial approach, both the prosecution and defense counsel promote public safety while protecting participants' due process rights. Once a participant is accepted into treatment, the prosecutor and defense counsel must work together to focus on the participant's recovery rather than the case that brought the participant into Drug Court. Both the prosecutor and defense counsel screen the defendant for eligibility, make recommendations regarding sanctions and incentives and participate in case conferencing, review hearings and graduation ceremonies. The County of Riverside has established an MOU for the basic principals of collaborative courts.

Key Component #3 (Prompt identification and placement.): The Court acknowledges the importance of promptly placing eligible participants in the Drug Court program. We are aware of the importance of external motivation to leverage participants' compliance and support this intervention by assuring prompt admissions to treatment. The current waiting list will be eliminated with the expanded services proposed here and the Drug Court treatment provider will be able to accommodate referrals in the program with no delay.

Key Component #4 (Continuum of services): The Court supports the concept of continuum of care and comprehensive services to adequately meet the needs of participants. The enhancement of services with an employment counselor and education liaison addresses this key component. The treatment team will ensure that treatment services and individuals are suitably matched and are comprehensive. Case managers will coordinate patient access to community resources for HIV testing, medical and psychiatric care, housing, education, and employment.

Key Component #5 (Frequent alcohol and other drug testing.): The Drug Court treatment provider will provide accurate drug and alcohol testing services. Participants will be monitored frequently to gauge progress and accountability. Test results and documentation will be monitored and communicated to the Court. Testing procedures will be followed to insure reliability and validity. Tests will be observed. Testing may occur randomly or at scheduled intervals, but occurs no less than twice a week in phases I and II. A coordinated strategy is in place to respond to both positive and negative test results.

Key Component # 6 (A coordinated strategy in response to compliance.): There will be a quick response from Drug Court regarding participant's compliance through frequent, regular communication between the treatment provider and the rest of the DCT, and the DCT will determine type of response to either compliance or non-compliance in a coordinated manner. Incentives will be provided through the course of treatment to reward and recognize compliance such as certificates, applause, acknowledgement and tangible incentives. Other strategies, known as sanctions will be used to respond to noncompliant behavior such as warnings/admonishment from the Judge, increased UA testing, increased treatment (could include residential treatment), and jail sanctions.

Key Component # 7 (Ongoing judicial interaction with participants.): The DCT acknowledges the importance of ongoing judicial interaction with each drug court participant and will work together with patients in a coordinated effort. Treatment court staff will meet with the DCT weekly (day and time determined by individual courts) for Drug Court Status Hearings and review each patient scheduled in case conferences prior to the Hearing. The treatment provider will provide progress reports to the DCT for each patient. The Judge will interact with each participant without interference from attorneys. The Judge will provide leadership of monthly administrative meetings in order to insure on-going communication and problem solving. The Judge will insure that fees, fines and/or restitution are acknowledged as part of the participant's treatment.

Key Component # 8 (Monitoring and evaluation.): The treatment provider will monitor program services through management information systems called, "SPUDS" or "DOORS," (Client Tracking System Drug Court Treatment Module). The County of Riverside Department of Mental Health is in the process of developing the DOORS system with State CDCI funding to track adult criminal drug court county wide and will be used in future years. This will allow necessary reports to evaluate compliance, treatment activities and outcomes. This information will be available to the DCT for their input on assessment of services. In addition, GPRA data will report performance in the following domains: client's substance use, family and living condition, employment status, social connectedness, access to treatment, retention in treatment, and criminal justice status.

Key Component # 9 (Interdisciplinary education.): The DCT supports the belief of interdisciplinary education to ensure cooperation and understanding among different disciplines. We will provide expertise and training regarding treatment issues to personal in the justice system and participate in education and training from the criminal justice system. Additionally, the, Evaluator, Project Director, and Clinical Director will participate in all required SAMHSA trainings, and NADCP training.

Key Component # 10 (Partnerships among drug courts, agencies and community based organizations.): The court is actively involved in coalitions between community-based organizations and will support and further the linkage between Drug Court programs and local organizations. The treatment provider will actively recruit new resources for referral to clients. The Project Director will maintain the goal to generate local support and enhance Drug Court program effectiveness through community forums and providing information at community events.
