Plaque verbiage below:

Charlene Busch is a dedicated and active community member in advocating DropZone Waterpark. Charlene participated on the design team for the new aquatic center and served as an important voice representing the community at large in decisions regarding theming, design, and which amenities to include. Throughout the process, Charlene spread the word to the neighboring communities, garnering excitement for the park opening. She provided tours of the project to dignitaries, elected officials, interested user groups, and local schools to create enthusiasm and community engagement. Charlene also identified and organized several partnerships within the community to bring programs and people together. With Charlene's help and dedication, DropZone Waterpark has been received as a successful and beloved community waterpark. We dedicate the Jet Stream River to Charlene Busch for her continuous hard work, dedication, and support. Much like the river, Charlene's dedication to represent the community needs and passion for supporting the waterpark is never ending.
