BACKGROUND: (Continued)

Recovery Zone Bonds consist of two categories, Economic Development and Facility Bonds. Economic Development Bonds are taxable governmental bonds which can be utilized for the promotion of economic development in areas such as construction of infrastructure, public facilities, and various other economic development purposes. The federal government will reimburse local governmental issuers in an amount equal to 45% of the interest paid. Riverside County's allocation of Recovery Zone Economic Development Bonds is $49,801,000.

Recovery Zone Facility Bonds are tax-exempt, private activity bonds which allow issuers to provide tax-exempt financing for projects such as large manufacturing plants, distribution centers, research facilities, etc. Riverside County's allocation of Recovery Zone Facility Bonds is $74,702,000.

In September 2009, the Economic Development Agency issued a Request for Proposals (RFP) for projects seeking bond financing in both categories. The Facility Bond RFP received several responses in excess of the county's allocation. Staff conducted a thorough analysis of each of the proposals and recommended four be given portions of the allocation. One of the projects selected is the March LifeCare Campus located on approximately 160 acres of land located within the March Air Force Base Redevelopment Project Area, east of Riverside Drive, north of Meyer Drive, west of Heacock Avenue, and south of Cactus Avenue in unincorporated Riverside County, California. The project consists of the construction of infrastructure necessary for development of the LifeCare Campus, including, but not limited to, roadway improvements, traffic control improvements, water mains, sewer mains, dry utilities, and a storm drainage system. The project is recommended to receive $17 million.

The Resolution is adopted for the purpose of meeting the Department of the Treasury and California Government Code requirements. The Resolution does not bind the county to make any expenditure, incur any indebtedness, or proceed with the financing of the project. Further requests for approval will come before the Board of Supervisors and Board of Directors prior to the financing of the project.
