I saw the story about your proposal for succession of California on The Drudge Report and I think it's a fabulous idea. I live in LA County and would relocate to Orange County if the plan goes through. I look forward to learning how the talks progress and am completely behind you!
Best of luck, Carla Endow

I want to encourage you in pursuit of succession in California. I live in San Bernardino and have contacted a friend who is on the San Bernardino city council to encourage him to pursue this course. He is in agreement. I believe people are in the right state of mind to support this course now. Keep this out front and let's encourage people to get involved. Thanks for your courage.

I think splitting California into 2, or even three, states is a terrific idea. I'm available to help sort out the logistics of the split if you are short on manpower for the effort. I have 20 years experience in planning, CEQA, and water resources and also have experience with annexations and LAFCO studies. Let me know if you need help and I'll send you my resume. Enforce the immigration laws to the max. Restructure the welfare laws and eligibility requirements to receive it. Apply our tax money to our needs and not all the junk pork that it goes to now.

I've never written to a politician, an actor or anyone else in the public eye prior to this letter, but I believe you are correct.

I originally moved to Ca. in 1964 because Florida became too liberal; now California is more liberal. Our vote in Riverside County is wasted because the most of the residents live in Los Angeles and north. Do you have a website set up yet? If so please send me the link and I'll forward it on to all my California Conservatives.

Mr. Stone,

I agree with your proposal to cede from the North. I agree with your proposals for the new government. The Northern counties have long been in favor of separating. Though their reason is what gives me pause. They do not want to share their water with the south. Any proposal that I would be in favor of would have to include iron-clad water rights for the south. Please consider this important issue as you go forward.

New California Resident

Immigrants are boycotting Arizona by the thousands, showing their outrage with Arizona's controversial new SB-1070 law by moving elsewhere.

In the small town of Guadeloupe, AZ, south of Phoenix , Manuel Renaldo is one of those who is punishing Arizona by leaving.

As he loaded his stolen car with his stolen belongings and family of ten, Renaldo told this reporter through an interpreter "It's a matter of principle; I refuse to be supported by a state that treats me like a criminal!"

The effects of the exodus are being felt by Arizona retailers, who are reporting dwindling sales of beer, spray paint, and ammunition. Also hit hard are the state's hospitals, which have reported a dramatic decline in births and emergency room visits. Tattoo parlors are in a state of panic.

Renaldo told a reporter, through an interpreter, "He and his family are moving to California, which is a state that will support him and his family with dignity!"

Kind of brings a tear to your eyes, doesn't it!

Dear Supervisor Stone,

I believe the best way to proceed with your secession motion is to try to get state legislators to convene a state constitutional convention with secession being the topic at hand. If enough state legislators who support secession aren't to be found, then the next step would be to support pro-secession candidates in future state legislative elections.

Good luck to you,

Eric

Hi! My mom and I have been talking about a Southern CA succession for a while now and am glad to hear of more people with common sense and good ideas. Our legislature is overpaid and under-worked! They have too much time on their hands, hence all of the crazy legislation being passed by the far left. I think we should cut a nice diagonal line, from the north east, (we'll keep Mammoth-they keep L.A.) all of the way down to Orange County.

Sincerely, Jennifer Hontucan

Let's secede, go get 'em... We're all tired of the Sacramento BS. Between Hollywood and San Fran, we don't have chance, time to put our future in our own hands. I hope you were serious - let's keep this going.

I met you at the Escondido Republican Club, and been following you ever since.

Supervisor Stone,

I read the article about your proposal to split California into two states. I think South California is a great idea. At least some of this great state could be spared from the noticeable decline of the past few years if the conservative portions of California were divorced from the reckless liberal portions.

At th risk of stating th obvious, u will unleash a flood of residents rushing fm blue counties to the red counties of th new state of S. CA.

I will be at the front of the line!

A st wide grassroots petitrn may sho how widely ur idea may b supported.

Hi There Mr. Stone,

The idea of succession seems like a logical answer and kudos to you and others for the work you have done thus far.

With that said, how can Ventura County jump in with you. When looking at a map it seems complicated though because of Los Angeles County.

I would greatly appreciate any comments you have on this and advice for Ventura County residents.

Thank you in advance.

I support your concept of making SoCal it's own State. I would move my telecom business out of LA in a second to get away from the inept, pension driven politics, & gov't that is more interested in dunning down using common sense while working FOR the people. Here's a minor example- the Palisades 4th of July Parade had it's FEES raised 300% because of the money grab by the City of LA. No recourse/no time to adjust by the organizers. Suffice to say, Make a new State and they WILL come!

MESSAGE: I'm all for your plan. But Calif. needs to be split into 6 or 7 states: Your proposed South Cal, SF Bay Area, LA (maybe a county or 2), Central Coast, Central Cal & Northern Cal which might want to split into 2. Look at the populations of 6 SE states: DE, MD, VA, NC, SC & GA. Similar population, congressmen and electoral votes. But they have 12 senators to our 2. Splitting up strengthen local gov't & prevent these giant inefficient and counter-productive state programs from being created.

Hello Jeff Stone

Heard your commentary on the radio regarding seceding and creating a 51st state, better operated and perhaps getting rid of junk union entitlements. Keep up this effort as I personally know that a lot of people would stand behind our leaders who really look out for us.

Thank you for helping us here in Menifee and within our district

MESSAGE: Great idea splitting CA to north and south. To make it work, include Orange and LA counties. It works for the Carolinas, Dakotas and the Virginias. Why not us?
