Dear Mr. Stone,

I believe the idea of the predominate republican counties separating from the mismanaged backwater state of California to be an idea who's time has come! I am here to lend my support to this endeavor in any way possible. Please do not let those in opposition discourage you from promoting this idea as you have the support of patriotic Californians such as myself.

Best regards
Timothy Varon

Hi Jeff

Well, on the surface it sounds like a good idea to secede, but can it ever happen? You can see how I write my address, "Commiefornia." The post office doesn't seem to mind. So what would we end up with? Hopefully a constitutionally conservative state. Of course, that would only leave about 5 people in the northern state with jobs and they're probably going to move to Texas! If this is a serious proposal and you have more info then please send it to me.

Thanks
Jim

JEFF.....Great idea which should have been brought forth 20 years ago. GDP would support a country like S.C., however, current population of illegals would be more a problem than water. As to the water, we still have to buy same from MWD. Just eliminating the ultra-liberal jerks in S.F. would be a great step forward. The way things are going, however, the name of the seceded country might better be "North Mexico". Good luck in your efforts, and you certainly have my support. JIM BLACK

Subject: Two State Solution For California Information Request

Hello,

I am not a citizen in your district but I hope you can help me by pointing me in the right direction to get information on the "two-state" solution for California. I heard an interview on the radio (AM 640, KFI) on Friday July 1st about 5:30 in the evening. The subject of the interview was splitting California into 2 states, one Northern, one Southern. I think this idea has merit so I'm hoping that it is getting serious consideration.

I believe that this website is the one referenced during the interview, but I am unable to find any info about this subject on the website. Can you provide me with details, or can you point me in the right direction to find out more details about this idea?

Thank You,

Dwayne Preston

To the Honorable Jeff Stone:

I love the idea of secession if it means cutting spending and abolishing the sales tax. Texas (and I think some other states) doesn't have a sales tax so why should we? I would also want a social conservative government where abortion is outlawed and where there are no more rights for Sodomites (homosexuals) than any other U.S. Citizen. Any form of deviation from heterosexuality is a choice and never a civil right. (continued on next)

Last Friday, July 1, I sent the body of this email to Opal Helweg in your office. This morning I called your French Valley office and spoke with Rose and she asked me to send the same to this email address.

What I didn't say in that email is I am willing to give whatever aid you would ask in this project. It is that important to me and have felt it is to be done. The time is more than right. For both ends of the state to survive fiscally it has to be done.

My email:

I live in French Valley, near Stater Bros. After the news of Mr. Stone's interest in dividing the state broke recently I have been pondering contacting his office. I've been down this road before. Give me a moment to tell you a bit about myself.

My interests in politics go back 35 years. In 1979 one of the major political parties asked me to run for state legislature in Arizona to unseat an unpopular but very powerful member. I opted not to. I had just separated from the military and was contemplating returning to California.

Through the years I have written, but not published, quite a bit on how state and federal operations can be repaired to avoid the very problems we are experiencing right now. If I had published these back in the 1980s maybe California, Minnesota and the US would not be broke if they had listened. Then again, who would know if my theories would have even worked. The thousands of people I have shared my ideas with certainly think so.

In the 80s and 90s I have met with state legislature and congressman about a California secession. It was discussed whether it would succeed or fail, how it could work, if the people would support it or not and how the state would be divided. There was incredible resistance to these ideas, from politicians to citizens; business owners to students. We found people who loved the idea but would not commit.

Living in the San Diego area I canvased the county getting responses. I found an interesting dichotomy in people. The very wealthy didn't care. The poor didn't see where it would make any difference, and those in the middle felt trapped by being out-numbered.

So, here we are today. We have the same arguments with the same problems for all the same reasons. However, this time I sense an odd difference. People may be willing to listen. Southern California sees the power resides in northern California and they just don't listen to us up there. The Bay Area is too close to Sacramento and gets the legislature's ear.

I want to help with this campaign. But (and you should never start a sentence with this word unless you have to), but, I honestly believe the place to start is not in the State Legislature, State Senate, press or public. It has to start on paper first. When the colonies began their coalescing into a unified country there were internal battle to fight. Why? Because each state had their own idea of what the union should look like. If you were to broach the subject of secession to broadly, to loudly without a plan you will be defeated quickly... unless you have a model to show people.

What should that model look like? Well, certainly not like anything California has right now! Else you just copy the same mistakes and get the same results California, Minnesota, Florida, Pennsylvania and others have been going through.

We that, I ask that we talk. I'm not planning on going anywhere. I am home all the time, or close by. I work in my home.

Supervisor Stone,

I applaud you for the courage in making today's announcement in challenging southern California counties to succeed and form a 51st state.

As a libertarian myself, the state of our country and California concern me greatly.

I would like to discuss with you the possibility of documenting your noble effort in bringing this cause to fruition.

Please see my imdb page and website, you'll see that my professional experience and abilities make this a very serious interest and viable possibility.

I believe in your cause and will document in a way that is truthful and honest.

Godspeed,
Jonny

It is with great interest that I have learned of your initiative calling for a South California formed by counties seceding from the North. Although from Orange County, I can assure you that you would find many welcome listeners for your message. Have you ever met Steven Greenhut, formerly an editor at the Orange County Register? I have read similar ideas written by him.

Hello Mr. Stone,

Just heard you on kfi640 radio and I am besides myself regarding your idea of taking some counties of our state and forming a new state. I have thought for awhile that this state is too large to be governed effectively. Have lived in California since the 50's and have seen so many changes, slowly for the worse. Please please pursue this and let us know if there is anything we can do to help. Words cannot express how much I appreciate your effort in this endeavor.

I read about the desire to form a 51st state.

If those counties would agree, could you see if other areas outside of those counties be also interested.

I live in Irwindale on the east end of LA country and would love nothing more than breaking away from liberal Ca. Maybe propose the 605 Fwy on the west to be included for the new state.

I wouldn't want to remain in Ca if you break way. It would be a disaster for us who remain.

Thank you

Your proposal to secede several California counties from the state is brilliant! Sacramento is entrenched and unworkable, and is destroying what was the best and most beautiful state. I love California - I was born here. I think voters on both sides would vote "YES". South California could be right-to-work, business friendly, low in taxes. California could have highest taxes - a progressive's heaven. Here is their chance. We are ready to make your proposal a reality!

MESSAGE: Please send me information about the multi county efforts to separate from California and create a new state. My husband and I finally have some hope that we could stay in our native state. I would love to have the opportunity to speak as a community member at your event. We own our own business here in the Inland Empire and have numerous verifiable examples of how the state government has hurt our business. We are ready to go! Please contact me as soon as possible. THANK YOU.

I support secession of the Californis counties you've discussed to form a new state free from the scumsucking union/lobbyist whore political hacks infesting Sacramento like a herpes virus. They and their lackey, Gov. Moonbeam, turned our Golden State into "Disneyland with bad management."

Our SB graft-ridden criminal "officials" bleed us white, cutting local services to fatten their own purses.

Only secession will stir my ideals out of the coma they've been in since Woodstock.

Good Luck!

Hello,

I just was notified that you stated the we; southern California, should basically become our own state, and I would like to notify you that several months ago a friend an i started a Facebook page called Liberate So-Cal. We also have started an twitter account @liberatesocal. So I'm on board i want to offer our resources and accounts if you are serious about this endeavor.

I understand your frustration. I lived in San Diego while I served in the Navy and now I work in California as a civilian. It used to be funny; however now I'm a resident. Unfortunately, politicians have realized they can create a class of people that will vote to keep their job as a full-time recipient of welfare.

Good Luck,

Gavin Whittle

Should you be interested, I have been advocating dividing California into three states for many years. See <http://3cals.phrelin.com/> the web site I set up in 2005, and yes many consider me a crackpot despite the fact on that site I cover in detail geographic, economic, historical, and political data supporting the idea and outline exactly how it could be accomplished.

Look at it and consider the details negotiable, you might like it.

I applaud your secession proposal to create a state of Southern California. I hope this effort is serious. This is a great idea whose time has come. The possibility, if indeed it can be done, is very exciting and would bring needed change to the state and the nation in so many ways. It is time to split.

Your idea to split CA into two states, might be the only way to SAVE at least PART of this once great state.

According to the poll @ CBS-LA, 89% of us AGREE with you!

It might just be worth a try!

Mexico has already colonized LA County -- RIP.
