BACKGROUND:

Summary

Net Metering has been in use in the United States since 1979. Over 3,000 utility providers across America utilize the Net Metering polices to incentivize the growth of solar and other renewable systems into their grids. California leads the nation in Net Metering and 40 percent of all U.S. installed solar systems are in place in California.

According to the Solar Energy Industry Association, 60 percent of solar related jobs are in the State of California. Fifty percent of solar systems installed in the state are operational in Southern California. Of those systems, Riverside County residents and businesses comprise 40 percent of users. Thus solar is increasingly popular in our county and surrounding jurisdictions. Support for the extension of Net Metering programs with the California Public Utilities Commission encourages the public, and those serving the public, to broaden their energy utilization options and supports consumer choice of which energy system they select to use in their homes and business. Solar systems have proven to be a reliable, cost effective, and grid saving source of clean energy helps which provides energy independence.
