Summary

California Government Code section 24000, subsections (f) and (i) establish the treasurer and tax collector, respectively, as county officers. The general duties of the county treasurer are set forth at Government Code sections 27000 – 27013. Riverside County has consolidated the two offices under a single officer as permitted under state law. In 52 of the 58 counties, the offices of county treasurer and county tax collector are consolidated under a single elected officer.

More specifically, Sections 27000.7 – 27000.9 set forth the qualifications, course of study, and continuing education of any duly elected county treasurer-tax collector. These sections were enacted by the state legislature in order to ensure that the officeholder possesses the requisite skill, experience, and expertise and further, that they continue their education within the discipline of treasury management, tax collection, public finance, public administration, governmental accounting, or directly related subjects, offered by a recognized state or national association, institute, or accredited college or university, or the California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission.

However, these sections are not self-executing. In order for these sections to be effective in Riverside County, the board of supervisors must enact an ordinance by majority vote at a regular meeting with all members present, adopting the provisions of those sections. Given the substantial responsibility bestowed on the County's Treasurer-Tax Collector to safeguard the County's money (as well as other depositors such as schools, special districts and other discretionary depositors) and the authority delegated by the Board to invest and reinvest the funds of the County, it is strongly recommended that this ordinance be enacted.

The County's Executive Officer, Finance Officer, and the Treasurer-Tax Collector all concur with the recommendation.

Introduction of the ordinance was approved at the Board Meeting on December 4, 2018, Item 3.4.
