BACKGROUND:

Summary

On September 9, 2010, Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger signed Assembly Bill 1844, also known as Chelsea’s Law. This legislation provided penalty enhancements, sex offender management guidelines, and an extension to the California Sexual Violence Victim Services Fund. The sex offender management guidelines introduced the Containment Model. The Containment Model is a collaborative approach to sex offender management which became mandatory in California beginning July 1, 2012 (see Penal Code sections 290.09, 1203.067, 3008 and 9003). The Containment Model approach is a widely recognized and influential model for the specialization of sex offender management. Addressing philosophy and practice, the model proposes five key elements as central to the effective management of sex offenders in the community. These include emphasis on an overall philosophy and goal of community and victim safety, sex offender–specific containment strategies, interagency and interdisciplinary collaboration, consistent public policies, and quality control. The basis of the Containment Model approach is that by working together as a cohesive team, treatment providers, supervision officers, and polygraph examiners can effectively “contain” sex offenders as a means of promoting offender accountability and ensuring victim safety.

The treatment programs and polygraphists (providers) play a major role in these community protection efforts for the safety and well-being of California’s citizens. For providers to participate in these programs they must specialize in sex offender treatment, per Penal Code section 290, for registered sex offenders under the jurisdiction of the criminal justice system, according to Penal Code sections 1203.067 (probationers) and/or 3008 (parolees), and be certified by the California Sex Offender Management Board (CASOMB). No alternate providers are available as the State dictates the providers that the Probation Department (Probation) must utilize for these services based on the needs of the offender, court orders, and the providers’ certification by CASOMB.

Currently the cost to participate in the program is the responsibility of the offender. However, for those supervised offenders that have an inability to pay or are only able to partially pay, Probation is requesting authorization to utilize the CASOMB Certified Treatment Program providers, without seeking competitive bids, in order to comply with and deliver mandated rehabilitative services to our communities and to meet the individual levels of risk and needs of offenders.

Impact on Residents and Businesses

Specialized sex offender treatment programs play a major role in our community's protection efforts. Utilizing these providers will be essential to manage known sex offenders living within the county's and state's communities; will reduce the likelihood that they may commit another offense; and will benefit the safety and well-being of the residents and businesses of Riverside County.

Contract History and Price Reasonableness

Rates for the CASOMB certified treatment programs range from $35.00 to $500.00 per session. Variation in rates is based on the type of session attended by the offender, such as initial intake, group session, individual session, initial polygraph, sexual history polygraph, and recidivism assessment. Program attendance results from a court order or program referral and the offenders have the responsibility to pay.

Probation provides payment for treatment for those offenders with the inability to pay or only partially pay for treatment. Board of Supervisors approval to use the certified providers will allow Probation to pay for treatment in the absence of a court order.

The department is exempt from seeking competitive bids per Ordinance 459, Section 7: Category II Exemptions, as this is a state mandate for specific participation and contracted services.
