BACKGROUND:

Summary

Within the LIUNA Local 777 2020 - 2024 Tentative Agreement, it was agreed upon by both the union and the County of Riverside to adhere to the following provision:

6. Minimum Salary Market Adjustment - Effective the first full pay period after July 1, 2022, the County will adjust the minimum salary ranges of LIUNA classifications, as identified by the County, at a percentage to be determined by a future market study. Utilizing the minimum salary of comparable classifications of comparable jurisdictions, the minimum salary of the classification's range will be increased to equal the median of the minimum salary of the comparable market. The adjustment would entail surveying the most populous LIUNA represented classifications to determine an average percentage the classifications are behind market and applying an across-the-board recommendation to the minimum salaries. If an employee's salary is less than the new minimum salary of the range for their classification at the beginning of the pay period in which the market adjustment is implemented, that employee's salary shall concurrently receive an increase to an amount that equals the new minimum salary for the classification's salary range and in which case the employee's anniversary date will be the first day of that same pay period. Market adjustments under this section shall not be paid from the one-time parity pool identified above.

The Class and Comp Unit has identified the Office Assistants and Eligibility Technicians to be the most populated classes represented by LIUNA.

The Class and Comp Unit has finished this market research and are recommending adjusting the minimum salary of all LIUNA-represented classifications by 9.71% (Attachment 1), based on the average market deficiency of the Office Assistants and Eligibility Technicians. Any incumbent in one of the impacted classifications that is currently earning a rate of pay that is below the new minimum salary, will have their rate of pay adjusted to the new minimum salary.

These recommended adjustments will cause some of our salary ranges to become narrow. The Human Resources Department is currently reviewing this and will follow up with recommendations for corrections where needed.
