BACKGROUND:

The Riverside County Community Action Commission (CAC) was formally established by the Board of Supervisors to provide guidance on anti-poverty programming, funding and to amplify the needs of low-income communities and residents. The primary responsibility of the CAC is to work collaboratively with the Riverside County Community Action Partnership (CAP) to implement funding allocated via the federally funded Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) program within Riverside County. In accordance with the Riverside County Board of Supervisor's Policy A- 21, Advisory Boards, Commissions and Committees, the CAC advises the Riverside County Board of Supervisors consistent with the Delineation of Powers Agreement between Governing Board and the Community Action Commission.

The CAC is a tripartite board composed of a minimum of fifteen (15) members representing three sectors: one-third (1/3) shall represent the Public Sector; one third (1/3) shall be low-income individuals or shall be representatives of the low-income community; and one third (1/3) shall represent the Private Sector as members of business, industry, labor, religious, education or other major group and interests in the community served. All members shall represent a Riverside County supervisorial district and shall be formally appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

Ana P. Calvillo's passion is to create opportunities and resources to help people succeed and as a result, improve human welfare across all sectors. She is volunteering with the Community Action Commission because of her personal connection to the objectives of CAP, her excitement to expand her civic engagement beyond the City of Corona, and her desire to see more low-income residents lifted out of poverty. Calvillo grew up experiencing poverty and, although her parents are hardworking individuals, who did their best to be financially responsible, language barriers, minimal employment opportunities, and financial illiteracy resulted in them plummeting into debt. Going to college, she recognized that her situation was not limited to her household, but that many of her peers lived through the same struggle she did. To Ana, CAP's programs already play a pivotal role in supporting families experiencing poverty. However, she would like to expand their impact expanding collaboration, to elevate the community's awareness of them, to seek solutions to novel problems after COVID-19, and to implement prevention mechanisms.

Calvillo's current employment as a Business Development Officer and Youth Board Director at the Corona-Norco United Way, allows her to mentor underserved students dealing with domestic violence, poverty, and/or homelessness, in the areas of college/career planning, healthy relationships, basic financial concepts, life skills, and professionalism. Mentoring and inspiring others is her passion, and she is grateful for the opportunity to collaborate with others to lift families out of poverty. Ms. Calvillo has a B.A. in Business Administration with an emphasis in Marketing & Accounting from the University of California, Irvine.

Ana P. Calvillo was chosen in accordance with the democratic selection procedures set forth in the Low-Income Commissioner Election Policy during a virtual election that closed November 15, 2022. If appointed, her term shall be two years and she must continue to reside in the area selected to represent, in accordance with the Riverside County Community Action Commission bylaws. Her two-year term will begin on February 28, 2023 and will expire on February 28, 2025.

Impact on Residents and Businesses

The Community Action Commission (CAC) has a positive impact on residents and business as the CAC seeks to address poverty and economic opportunities for all residents.
