BACKGROUND:
Riverside County Workforce Development Board (WDB) is a private sector led policy and oversight body that supports the expansion and development of the regional workforce. The WDB is governed by the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act of 2014 (WIOA) which mandates that more than 50% of the WDB's members must come from the business community. In addition, WDBs are required to have representation from universities or community colleges, economic development, and workforce representatives including labor organizations. This ensures that federal funds for workforce development activities are expended on training and career coaching that meets the needs of the business community. Pursuant to WIOA, the Board of Supervisors, led by the Board Chairman who serves as the Chief Local Elected Official (CLEO), is responsible for appointing the WDB members for two-year terms.

Joyce Johnson, Vice President of Career Education, Counseling, Nursing, and Allied Health at Mt. San Jacinto College (MSJC), was appointed to serve on the board of directors of the National Council on Workforce Education (NCWE). This appointment is a testament to Johnson's experience and expertise of career education and workforce development programs.

By serving on the NCWE, Johnson will contribute to shaping workforce policies and initiatives at a national level. In this role, she will collaborate with other industry leaders, policymakers, and experts to address workforce development challenges and promote effective strategies for preparing the workforce for the future. She is one of only two leaders on the Board of Directors representing California Community Colleges.

Johnson will apply her decades-long career education experience to the new position. She began her professional career as a registered nurse, a profession she continues to practice. She accepted a position at MSJC in 1998. Over the past 25 years, Johnson has made significant contributions to MSJC's career education and workforce development programs securing financial support through various grants and developing strategies for successful collaboration, implementation, and innovation.

Johnson serves on several local and statewide advisory boards promoting student access to higher education and student success. She establishes and maintains strong working relationships with business industry partners and educational entities. Joyce A. Johnson is filling the vacancy of Morris Myers.
